Hidden Gem!

Situated within the limits of the Town of Athabasca, the Muskeg Creek Trails run through the Muskeg Creek Valley and surrounding plateaus. Covering an area of 17.5 square kilometers with an elevation change of 50 meters, it is easy to get away from the sights and sounds of the nearby urban area. The trails also connects to our local schools, Athabasca University, and the Rotary Trail system that stretches across town. The trails are open year-round to all non-motorized vehicles with various recreation and outdoor opportunities. Such activities include hiking, jogging, mountain biking, bird watching, and counting butterflies. A chalet is located adjacent to the trails for users to warm up in the winter or on the deck in the summer. The trails are home to a variety of wildlife, birds and trees and shrubs. In the winter, snow on the trails is groomed for both classic track-set and skate cross-country skiing. This truly is a must see when in Athabasca.
